

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A hybrid recording medium includes a read-only area in which a file is previously recorded, and a write area capable of updating and recording the file, characterized in that volume configuration information 21 and VTOC 22 about a file system are recorded in the write area is used in an information record apparatus.